

underlying muscle activity differs for the two return movements and thus decreases decoding accuracy